CPG is a highly valued partner to McDonald's Canada as we continue to challenge the status quo and build a better risk management program for our system. They are positioned uniquely to provide objective analysis and advice relating to all areas of the risk management value chain, and they aren't afraid to ask tough questions on their client's behalf. They're helping us to think differently about all aspects of risk management.

CPG has taken the time to understand our business and is delivering on our tactical needs, and more importantly, on developing innovative strategies to achieve immediate and long term cost savings. The savings we've achieved as a result of our relationship with CPG have justified the fees we've paid.
